OPEN HOUSE WILL HIGHLIGHT DIVERSITY, VALUE OF LOCAL LIBRARIES

All 34 branches of the Fresno County Public Library will host local Open House activities on Saturday, October 6, from 12 noon to 2 pm. Each branch will showcase Library programs and services for their local community.

Whether it's research databases, story times for children, job and career resources, reading materials, movies, music, Wi-Fi access, computers, tutoring, genealogy or homework help, local libraries offer value for everyone. Open House activities will especially reach out to community members who are not library users as well as existing users who may not be aware of the diversity of free programs and services offered by their local libraries.

"The Open House is an invitation for everyone to discover, or re-discover, what's new at their local libraries," says Laurel Prysiazny, Fresno County Librarian. "Even regular users are often pleasantly surprised to learn about a free service or program that they didn't realize was available at the Library."
