

Immediate Release
October 01, 2014

Media Contacts:

Linda Aragon (559) 600-6226

Jonathan Waltmire (559) 600-6274

WHAT: Fresno County Public Library to Host Interview Event with New York Times Best Selling Author Karl Marlantes.

WHEN: Wednesday, October 8, 2014, 7 pm.

WHERE: Old Administration Building Auditorium, Fresno City College.

DETAILS: Fresno County Public Library, in partnership with Cal Humanities, the California Center for the Book, Fresno City College Library, and the Fresno City College Veterans Services Office is pleased to host a conversation with Karl Marlantes, New York Times best-selling author of the book What It Is Like To Go To War. Mary Menzel, director of the California Center for the Book, will interview Mr. Marlantes about his personal experiences serving as a combat soldier in the Vietnam War. This event is part of the "War Comes Home" series which fosters discussions about what it means to return from war and rejoin one's community. A book signing and reception will round out the evening. "We are proud to host author Karl Marlantes" said Fresno County Librarian Laurel Prysiazny, "Mr. Marlantes offers much insight into life as a soldier and the challenges of returning to civilian life." For more information about this program and the rest of the "War Comes Home" events, please visit www.fresnolibrary.org.

###